mwagner@w-group.net

Steve Figgins, President and Jeff Oslick, Treasurer requested that anyone interested in being a Meeting Sponsor for 2008 to please sign up now as we need two sponsors per meeting.

Highlights from the meeting:

Michael G. Wagner is a principal and managing director of The W Group, a corporate investigations and risk mitigation consultancy located in San Francisco. The W Group performs high-level transactional due diligence for the investment community in San Francisco, Silicon Valley and New York including private equity concerns, venture capital firms, investment bankers and law firms. For several high-tech firms, The W Group performs forensic supply chain investigations and assessments, as well as investigations involving the theft of intellectual property, the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, and internal and external fraud.

Prior to founding The W Group in January 2000, Mr. Wagner was a co-practice leader of the investigations practice for PricewaterhouseCoopers in San Francisco, with his current business partner, Scott A. Wilcox. Prior to joining PricewaterhouseCoopers, Mr. Wagner was an associate managing director for Kroll Associates in San Francisco, an international investigations firm. Both principals are members and certified auditors for the Technology Asset Protection Association.

Before joining the corporate world, Mr. Wagner was a national award-winning investigative journalist and editor for The Los Angeles Times, The Sacramento Bee, The Detroit Free Press and other publications. Time permitting, he occasionally publishes magazine articles as a free-lance writer. He was hired by the Times to cover the investigations into the causes of the Orange County bankruptcy.
